MATA HARI

Bally Introduces New Mata Hari Flipper Game

CHICAGO, Ill. — "Sizzling action on a glamorous playfield," was the description used by Paul Calamari, national sales manager for the Bally Manufacturing Corp., for the firm's new 'Mata Hari' four player flipper game. The firm has at the same time announced volume delivery of the game.

"Kickout hole at the playfield," Calamari continued, "not only charges the ball with vigorous score-searching action, while adding 3,000 to the score, but also double, triples and multiplies the bonus by five, as the ball is repeatedly shot into the hole, during play of each ball.

"Twin banks of drop targets add 50,000 to the score as do out rollovers when lit, and are also the key to one of two ways to score specials," Calamari explained. "The second way to score specials is the new A-B skill feature. Lit A-B is scored and A-B light advances to next value when ball contacts both A and B rollovers. A-B value starts at 1,000, advances through 2,000, 3,000, 4,000, 5,000 to extra ball and special.

"The seductive eye appeal of 'Mata Hari' and the unusually fast scoring action insures that 'Mata Hari' will be another winner in the recent series of top four-player Bally flippers," he concluded.

Further information may be obtained by contacting local Bally distributors. The firm is located at 2640 West Belmont, Chicago, Ill. 60618.

Midway Offers Clowns In Cocktail Table Model

FRANKLIN PARK, Ill. — Stan Jarocki, director of marketing for Midway Manufacturing Corp., has announced the release of the firm's Clowns game in a cocktail table model.

"The success of the Clowns upright in locations throughout the United States and Europe prompted our decision to offer this high income producing game in a cocktail table cabinet," Jarocki said.

The unit is a one or two player game in which the player bounce a figure off a 'seesaw' to break colored rows of balloons for high score, bonus jumps and extra games. The player receives 10 points for each bounce off the 'seesaw' and 20 points for breaking each yellow balloon, 50 points for each blue balloon, and 100 points for each green balloon. For breaking a complete row of yellow, the player earns 200 bonus points, 500 bonus points for the green row and 1,000 points for the blue row.

The number of jumps permitted each customer during the game is adjustable on the part of the operator at three, four, or five. Players can earn a bonus jump when their score reaches 3,000 or 4,000 points; this is also adjustable on the part of the operator.

The awarding of a free game is also left to the discretion of the operator. The game can be adjusted also to award a free game for 9,000, 11,000, or 13,000 points; or, if the operator chooses, no free games at all. "Skillful players," Jarocki observed, "can develop a wide variety of angle jumps during the game resulting in maximum scoring."

"Clowns, as a cocktail table game, is packaged in an attractive wood-grained and glass topped cabinet that will blend into the decor of the locations for which it is intended," he continued. "It has a 19" solid-state monitor, dual controls, and electronic musical sounds that have proven to be a delight to all players.

"Game pricing is fully adjustable with a multitude of choices," Jarocki explained. "Clowns has a double 25-cent coin chute and also incorporates Midway's micro-processor logic system with built-in Rom and Ram testor." The game is 29" high x 38-1/2" wide x 32-1/2" deep.

Further information is available at all Midway distributors. The firm is located at 10750 Grand Ave., Franklin Park, Ill. 60131.

BALLY BOOTH: Seen here are two views of the Bally display at the recent MOA convention in which the Playboy flipper was prominently displayed. Bunnies were on hand as part of the promotion.

Bally, Playboy Combine To Promote New Flipper

CHICAGO, Ill. — Bally Manufacturing Corp. and Playboy Enterprises have combined their efforts to promote Bally's new Playboy flipper. The four player game which was introduced at the AMOA convention, features Hugh Hefner and two Playboy Playmates on the backglass.

During the course of the AMOA convention, two Playmates and two bunnies were on hand in the Bally exhibit to sign backglass posters. The Playmates were also in Atlanta to sign posters during the course of the IAAPA show. Bunnies, provided by Playboy, will be on hand during the course of the ATE exposition in London and the Forain expo in Paris.

Playboy Magazine in their December edition featured an editorial spread on the game. They are also awarding four of the games as prizes in their "Good Life Sweepstakes," which includes a mailing of over 1.5 million in additio to the magazine coverage.

Bally and Playboy are also promoting the game through radio station contests. Chicago station WCFL is running a 10 day promotion with a Bally Playboy awarded to the contestant winner. Similar contests are planned in 10 other major markets.

Playboy will also have two of the flippers at the Chicago Mansion for their 25th Anniversary parties.

Telmark Kicks Off New To

HOUSTON, Tex. — Telmark Systems, Inc. has launched its new Touch down Fever video game. The unit was first introduced to the trade at the recently held convention of the Amusement Music Operators Association.

Touchdown Fever is a one or two player video game incorporating a 23" screen. Players can play against each other or the computer. A clock on the screen displays the time, along with a scoreboard which show all the game statistics. Players can select one of 10 offensive plays or five defensive plays, which gives each of the football players his own assignment. After pressing the desired button, the players and spectators are drawn out onto the field to watch the computed results. Each player gets a positive reinforcement at the end of his call.

LIGHTERS UP: Bill Hagman, Jr., president of Hagman's, Inc., has received his second Bic Achievement Award for outstanding lighter sales. The recent honor was bestowed on Hagman, a tobacco distributor and vending operator, for lighter sales performance in 1978; he also garnered the trophy in 1977. The award is presented to companies achieving a significant volume increase in a single year. On hand to present the award for Bic were chain accounts manager Vince Glossip and assistant zone manager Jim Monteen. Bic, famous for its line of writing implements and disposable cigaret lighters, brought out a line of lighters packaged for sale through cigaret vending machines late last year (see V/T, September 1978). The firm also offers disposable razors.
